

Unstruck Sound

The technical translation of “anahata” is “unstruck.” The way to open up the anahata or heart chakra is via detection of the “unstruck sound.” If we examine sound, what we discover is that all sounds arise from two objects striking each other. In this practice, we’ll teach you the beginning of finding the “unstruck sound” which opens up the heart chakra.