

Share:

Another New York City Sears Bites The Dust

The Staten Island Mall is losing its anchor tenant, with beleaguered department store Sears planning to close its location there for good in September. Sears had been in the New Springville store for more than four decades, The Staten Island Advance reports. The company filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy...

Read the full story here.