is this a good time?

Yes it is, thank you so much.

Just to make it brief, my actual situation is that I've two exams left (that I'll do next week), and then I'll write and discuss my thesis from February to June.

I did my Bachelor in Milan (Corporate communication) and a Master in Switzerland (Marketing).

My main field of study are Digital Marketing and Social media marketing. I decided to specialize in this because I think it is the present (and future) of marketing in every company.

As I told you yesterday, I would like to work in fashion because it is a passion that I have since I was young, but in any case any big company attracts me.

I'm planning to come to New York on March/April, maybe we can meet and discuss about it. Off course if it is ok for you.
