
From: james ce | personal genius <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Tuesday, October 13, 2015 2:40 PM
To: jeffrey E.
Subject: Re:

Ack. What did I do!?!? Sorry about that.

It's one of two things. If your Mac AppStore is signed in as me, you can simply choose "Sign out" from the Mac AppStore's Store menu (the line below sign out tells you what account is actually signed in).

I suspect tho, there's actually an update for one of the apps I needed to install when you weren't available. If that's the case, in the Updates tab there will be a notice for Textwrangler, JPEG mini or Photosweeper. If that's the case, you can just drag the offending application from the Applications folder to the trash, and the notice will disappear the next time the Mac AppStore checks for updates.

(Textwrangler is a free text editor that's much easier to use for writing scripts or editing preference files. JPEG mini is the program I ran that does lossless compression of JPEG images, I ran it on your system when your drive was nearly full. Photosweeper looks for duplicate photos to free up space, I don't think I've ever actually run that on our system, tho.)

James Ce
your Personal Genius

• Certified Support Professional 10.6
<http://personalgenius.us>

On Oct 13, 2015, at 7:05 AM, jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:

james my app store is using your sign in? I can't get in

--=

please note

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of JEE

Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to jeevacation@gmail.com, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof, including all attachments. copyright -all rights reserved

=