Met with him, they're looking for a partnership that would basically keep them in place. They want to expand and open satellite scouting offices in Eastern Europe and more aggressive scouting in general (contests, etc.). I'm in SP this week so I can meet with both owners if you want. They will both be in Paris next week, if you're still there why not meet them? Basically they need capital to grow the company and want to keep their investor pool very small. I like the Eastern Europe idea (□□□□□□) and emphasis on scouting in general.
