
From: Joscha Bach [REDACTED]
Sent: Sunday, September 6, 2015 9:09 PM
To: jeffrey E.
Subject: Re:

> Am 06.09.2015 um 16:23 schrieb jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com>:

>

> I dont want statistical modeling exactly. the trick will be to find a challenge that cannot be cracked with m=re statistics alone > you and ben for years have stated you wanted to put an avatar , and hope i= can do things a 2 year old can do. the challenge is learning a languag=. different that moving blocks in a video game.

>

>> On Sun, Sep 6, 2015 at 2:38 PM, Joscha Bach [REDACTED]

>> wrote= This challenge idea is excellent; I really love it!

>>

>> > first draft. of the Chomsky Challenge. . Produce a non- living s=stem that can be put into an environment for a while and --- 1 . be a=le to discriminate language from noise. . prize . a 1 dollar bill si=ned by Noam and 100k.

>>

>> What is the system allowed to have when it starts? We would need to >> defin= the environment, for instance text ba↑b-