Hi you. I hope I didn't imply i made her rich. She is smart and one of the hardest working people I know. I simply gave her ideas, provided the strategy and connections, and some financial support. But it's amazing what can be done when someone is allowed to maximize their gifts. Anyway... I don't think I expressed myself very well in my last message. I just wanted to let you know that I believe you have so much potential and I'd love to see you use it.

First thing we'd need to do is come up with a business that you would be passionate about and good at. It's not as easy as it sounds. It shouldn't be about what you aspire to be or wish you were but bringing out those great things that are already part of you that perhaps you don't know exist or you take for granted. Put in some thought and bounce some ideas off me. I am here to help

Hi .
That's terrific . I am very proud of you making her rich. I would love to meet her in person .
When can we do it?

Hi. Just got home. Sorry the night just moved so fast -- jumping around everywhere. I'll try to get us all together again soon. But it's funny. I have tried to leave this life because while it is fun it is actually quite meaningless. I only do it now for my nephew and thought it might help your career.

Funny thing today. My ex-girlfriend and partner had our equity valued during fund raising. After only 12 months she is now officially a multimillionaire. [REDACTED], I love you. I don't expect or ask anything of you. Let's do something together. You are beautiful, yes, but that is a very limiting asset. There is so much more to you that 'm not even sure you realize. You could become independently rich, successful and proud. It is all there. I'll never understand why you choose modeling which is so infinitely limiting or the 'U.N.' which is based on connections, family and academic accomplishments to define your career. You are much more talented and hold much more potential than you realize.

Ok. I'm excitable lately because I've got so much going on. As I've told you before, when I'm on

I'm on. I admire, respect and love you. Believe me when I tell you that you are operating at less than 5% of your true potential mostly because you don't understand your true value. Believe in yourself [REDACTED]

I go to bed.
Sleep well
