
From: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Monday, September 30, 2013 8:21 PM
To: jeff epstein
Subject: France/men

Hi Jeffrey,

Hope you're well. I'm just getting over a cold, not a surprise considering I work in a petrie dish with 36 snotty noses. I have been studying French and with the goal of learning to speak fluently. I need to live in France next summer and get a job there in order to do this. This past summer, I tried advertising on the French Craig's List but nothing materialized so instead I bought a couch and continued taking a course. Do you know a better way to live/work in France? I'd love to check this one off my bucket list. Also, if you know any mature, single men to introduce me to that would be fun to meet, I'd really appreciate it. I feel like all I do is go to work. I miss not having a significant other person in my life for affection and warmth.

Love,

[REDACTED]

PS

I am blonde again. (Really silver with lots of blonde streaks. ;)