Wind has died down from last night. I don't think it is going to amount to much. Incredible amount of rain though.

Just wanted to update you. The weather forecasters seem to be a little off the mark this morning. Looking at radar and satellite, the storm looks like it is going to pass much closer than forecasted. I re-secured the boat and had a drive around. A few trees down but nothing too bad. Roads are getting in pretty rough shape. I'll let you know as things progress.<iv>
