we were talking about some cool things that you and he might be able to do together.
it's taken a few days of thinking with him but he came up with 2 "learning sessions" that he and you should think about together.
two sessions that could push some boundaries and maybe even come up with something cool.
i will try to type them up this weekend BUT i asked him if we could think of 3-4 and make it a "series" that you could fund through your foundation as paradigm shifting/game changing stuff super cool!
