Hi ==EE...

I've known Persi for many many years (he used to be at HU). I haven't run across him here yet. He's famous for inventing magic tricks. He's a real whiz.

I've not about six undergrads lined up to talk to [REDACTED]. I've sent her (and =va) the relevant email addresses, and they need to make contact directly.

In case you are interested, here's what came out of that last conversation we had about my =enter:

1. Our Mission: We make =ehavioral Science relevant
2. This means two =hings: (a) we convene groups to solve important problems; (b) we put =nformation into the hands of people who can use it
3. To accomplish these =oals we host groups we define as well as ones people bring to us, and we also host a =umber of "outreach" events and activities.
4. We focus in large =art on post-docs because they are still impressionable, and what we do is different - we =re filling an unfilled niche, making Behavioral Science relevant; we want to leverage by training young people to carry on the =ork.

I'm off to =rance tomorrow, and then some tiny town in Holland (to attend the =eeting of, no joke, an organization called "Some Institutes of Advanced =tudy"--the major function of which seem to be to exclude OTHER =nstitutes... I'll go once).

I hope you are =ell!
