We are very proud and excited to extend an invite to another one of our favorite fall films, MARTHA MARCY MAY MARLENE. This film must be seen, and Elizabeth Olsen's performance is a revelation. The film is screening as part of the festival, and we are hosting our own private party with the filmmakers and stars of the film afterwards. We know it's a bit on the later side, but this film is worth it. We hope you can join us...

Elizabeth Olsen stars in director Sean Durkin's psychological thriller, MARTHA MARCY MAY MARLENE, about a young woman who undergoes an explosive crisis of identity after escaping the confines of a rural cult-like farming community. Tapped by unsettling flashes of memories from the past and visions of a perilous future, she becomes taken over by an unsettling sense of fear, leaving her consumed by paranoia and a mysterious burden of guilt.
