As I was specific in my request to Sikorsky:
I asked for two prices, one with wifi and one without.
official price: 13.2M see George's email below.

Please do not share this with Sikorsky as it will have a negative impact on my relationship with them.

First of all we need to lose on 750, Sikorsky has met the additional 20K amount JE was looking for and it is unfair to keep moving the bar forward. If not today due to the time then Tuesday without fail, I think everything has been reviewed and in order

All that being said here is what I think is the deal to build another ship like 750. Assume delivery about 10 months time. The list price is 13.2m but we all know that in the end he will be paying considerably less...only a guess on my part but I would think around 12.5 to 12.6 range. Perhaps when everyone relaxes and 750 closes I can then even improve on that but no promises
