The Jojo thing is a tricky one but I don't know why I =m leaning toward yes he would stay. I may be crazy. Unless, and this i= the hard part with you and your generosity, the financial incentive would=be lost by putting him in an equal financial position whether he stayed or=not. This is hard to think about when the mans wife is dying I know. =div>Another thing, we have no idea of his way of dealing with loss and sor=ow, my observation has been that perhaps he likes to keep things going as =hey are as much as possible, but once again hard to say as he has never ex=erienceed what he is about to.
I lean more toward yes than no.

Either way our team wont stop until we have things r=ght for you...

(but the thought of Jen being your=driver....I would feel safer if it were [REDACTED], she would be on time and in=the correct place, but she does swear occasionally at other drivers) =/div>
