Joe's comments about Keiv interested me, so I contacted an old girlfriend who lives in Russia. She is home for her daughter's wedding and is going back this week. Told her had a friend who said money was pouring around town. Asked what is like for the average joe. What they earn, if they see the divide, how they feel, where they see things going in terms of economy, etc. What the average joe wants most in their lives now. She said is a great divide and people see it. Average income in Keiv is $700/month, outside of Keiv is $300/month. Said will tell me everything later-getting ready to travel. Thought an American's perspective may be useful to you and Joe. Might not matter at all. Is nice to communicate with an old girlfriend of mine anyway (high school sweetheart).
