Oral passed. The guy was an ass. He walked in asking why I am there with 300hrs and no jet experience, then he spent an hour going through the preflight video asking about every vent and access panel and motors and valves in the back, then he asked me to draw the whole electrical system but didn't ask any of the fun system questions or limitations I know well.. It wasn't very satisfying like yesterday but he said I did well so I am done :)
