I am asking all chapter iii participants to reaffirm their orders for allocation by thursday of this week so we can allocate friday and close monday. So far the largest 'order' is 100% and the smallest is 3.5%. Assuming you want to stay where we discussed that would be 25% but it is clear now that there will be cutbacks. As promised I am coming back to you with that news so you can give me a real indication of greater or less than the 25% we discussed last time or you can tell me that you want to stay there. At this juncture I am estimating that cutbacks will approximate 50%, but for some it could be more and some less. Just let me know where you would like to end up in a perfect world (assuming you still wish to play). Thx.
