the flying is something that only benefits you.. so i am not surprised that it gets done differently.. the house has been kept with a total disrespect for my things. the blue room is a mess. the lights and tv are constanty left on.. last month It has been a month since having told you the carpet had to be changed . .there has been no change, it is not fair, and i realize it is a sensitive subject so that is simply one more thing that i can't tlak about wihtout having an argument..
