Jeffrey,
Gulfstream is in service, however, if you think we may have another trip in the next 14 days, please let me know, I am sending out the co-pilots altimeter to have a light bulb (back lighting item repaired)
The say 7 to 10 days turn around for this item, other wise its $15, 000 for and overhauled exchange unit.
I prefer to send ours out for repair for obvious reasons.
Worse case, if we have a pop up trip, I can have a new one delivered in 24 hours.
I am legal to fly "as is" since lighting works in dim mode only.

Is this approved to send out our altimeter for repair?

Thank you,

Larry
