well - what could possibly be of interest for you ;) the macro perspective is falling apart i am stuck sorting out practical things to get my micro world in place - other worlds sweden is small, the FMA is small, i am beating my head every day - trying to find my way around the concrete walls.

but on the positive side - still have my horse - a new one though -and I love the weather in Sweden, dark, cold and lots of snow - you know to be really really happy - you need be freinds with the monster and you life - - did you frame your real life yet?
