Subject: Goodbye from Clipmarks

Dear jeffrey07,

After much consideration, we've decided that it is time to shutdown Clipmarks. On behalf of the team, I want to thank you for being part of our journey. It is important to us that we shut down the service in the most responsible and considerate manner possible. Towards that end there are two things that you should consider:

- First, we've arranged with Clipboard (a new service under entirely different ownership and management) to give you an account on their service, which is currently accessible by invitation-only. You can accept this invitation and register your account now.
- Second, from the registration page, Clipboard will allow you to easily request that your old clips be preserved in Clipboard. If you don't want them converted, then do nothing. We can't guarantee that we'll be able to convert all of your older clips, but if the demand is sufficient, we will do our best.

We hope that you'll accept the invitation to join Clipboard. Like Clipmarks, they believe that the Web is better when people can easily save, share and discuss the parts that they care about.

For more information, please see the Clipboard blog post.

All the best,

Eric Goldstein
