yes, . great apt. electric switches will be next tough decision. you must paint on the floor the rooms. where do the light switches go. can you turn them on and off from both entries to the room.. for example you dining room needs two one at each entrance / the closet in the bedroom , when you walk in , you will be looking straight at a closet door . do you want them to open in the middle , you will not be able to put any photos on the wall. ? if the kitchen door is double swing.. either one way mirror , or slit with glass.?
