Good Afrenoon, these are the possible hedge options, using plant material that we have on LSJ.

This 1st one is Caribbean Lignum Vitae,
Which is actually a small tree, but very slow growing, and is used for hedges/ green barriers

This 2nd one is Sea Grape,
Which can make a great hedge!
These particular plants came from Ms. Vaccarrino
And they are older and lengthy.
We would need to get young healthy plants and Plant them, and prune them to grow as a hedge
* I will send photo's of a Beautiful Sea Grape Hedge
As an example

The 3rd option we have is Jasmine,
Which I believe you are quite familiar with.
* these are from cuttings I made, and are relatively small still

Option #4 is Ficus, which I believe you know well also

Thanks,
igala
