Jeffery, how are you? my trip coming to the end..i've got more few days to enjoy the city which never sleeps. I was invited to take classes this week with complexions.lucky me, i won't pay for extra days! I haven't mention you before, but i've started a new activity. I represent the jewerly maker from Lithuania.I have offered myself to do it, because i am very admire on his works and of course there is an opprtunity to make some money.its very unique , very luxury,all there are made from platinum,gold and other gems.very different and still wearable.I brought with me two rings and i have few photos of different jewery he makes. I would love to show it for someone who is intrested in very unique jewery, but i don't know from where to star.you are always full of great ideas.maybe this time you can give me an advise.
Thank you Jeffrey.i am still having a hope to see you and give you something what belongs to you!:)little gift!
huge hug!
i've attached a few photos for you to view.i would be very grateful for your oppinion.
