Hello Jeffrey! how are you? I observed all the tile's market in our country and have some solutions for you. I contacted the firm which makes the best tiles as far as I understood do you need. this is what they said. They said they have two types of it one is named moroccan tile and is hand made from small pieces like mosaic each tile, the second one is "imagination" and looks almost the same as moroccan but is not made from small pieces but just have the same print and are engraved by the special method. One thing more they said is that usually nobody is making all the buiding with that tile because it will be too expensive and doesnt look good. usually they lay out the simple background and make some "tile windows" or some combinations. One of their works is in the picture I sent you, it is one uzbek restraunt. Also they want to know the sizes of tile and should it be glossy or not. Actually they told it would be better if you will send the plan of the building and they can service you from the beginning till the end even with work force, and also they said if you want some extra information you can make a skype conference with them. As soon as I will tell them about this questions they will send their pictures and price list.

I miss you,
take care,
