Peggy wanted me to check on a Hermes "bucket" bag that she says you told her you purchased her as a Valentine's Day gift. She said if it was never purchased it is ok of course, but she just wanted to make sure you didn't waste your money on something that had been lost in transit. I asked [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] if they ever purchased this handbag and they both said no. Just in case it was something you did mean to do, I didn't want to let it slip by. :)
