

To: [REDACTED]
From: Jeffrey
Sent: Fri 3/30/2012 5:20:06 PM
Subject: Re: Bell 407 in st thomas now,.

No rush Sunday morning ok

Sorry for all the typos .Sent from my iPhone

On Mar 30, 2012, at 1:03 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Jeffrey,.

Bell 407 is in St Thomas now, just landed, all went well,. I return to Palm beach at 7pm tonight,. Gulfstream was trouble shooting an Oxygen leak on the GII,. here is message from Larry Morrison, plane will be return to service Saturday at the latest, it appears they dented an area located on inner nose section of the GII where O2 bottles are located.

thank you, Larry- will keep you updated,.

Lar,

During troubleshooting an O2 leak on the GII a plug released from one of the nose O2 bottles, and created a small dent on an inner panel inside the nose compartment. Cyrus is working on getting a blessing on the dent for continued service and has a replacement bottle en route via road from SAV. They are planning a return to service by tomorrow at latest. Thought you should know in case of a pop up.

Larry Morrison