Dear Friend,

Thanks for your email.

Chances are that you won't hear back from me. But please don't take it personally. It's just that my hands [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] To complicate matters, the overwhelming amount of email I get makes it impossible for me to keep up.

So for now I am going to read email but not respond to most of it. I'm not crazy about this approach but it's the best approach I have right now.

I also created a "frequently asked questions" section here:
