So, for your curiosity...

I invested the largest amount of money in CPRX
it went 300% in 2 months but I bought it too late so made just 25%

then
ACAD
on that one I lost about 5% I believe, and it's supposed to soar

then CADX
on that one I'm even and have just 1000 shares then the company that is at 1 cent since 6 months and has this female anticancer chinese-inspired molecules

BNVI
this one, I have 100,000 shares. I wish it was at the original ridiculous opening price of 10,000 USD!!!!!!

all the above are Nasdaq

and about 30,000 shares of a stupid zinc mine in Canada SWN.V
this one is Vancouver market.

Do you feel sorry for me?
