Terje,

This is a follow up from the meeting in Strasbourg. Can I go ahead?

Walter

Dear Joe,

It was a pleasure to meet you last week in Strasbourg. We appreciated the opportunity to brief Mr. Gates and his team on possible approaches to eradicating polio in the last few regions of the world where it is endemic.

As Mr. Gates pointed out, the last millimetre seems to be the hardest. While one approach has worked remarkably well in 99.9% of the world as part of a global health campaign, the last little bit has to be considered in very specific security, political and social conditions at the local level. This is where we believe that we can help.

We would therefore welcome the opportunity to talk in greater detail with you and other colleagues at the Bill and Melinda Gates foundation about strategy and tactics. It would also be good to exchange views on surveying techniques and communication strategies.

What works best for you: should we start with a Skype or phone call (early next week)? We are also putting some ideas on paper.

Are the interlocutors from the foundation who work on this issue mostly based in London? As we move forward – particularly before moving to the operational phase – it would be good to meet around the same table.

We look forward to helping you finish the job of eradicating polio.

Sincerely,

Walter Kemp
