Per Carlos boats were stripped before they were put in dry dock
I will ensure that LSJ tools and anything else of value is removed before boats are released for sale

Greetings Rich,

Just spoke with Carlos regarding JE's directive to strip Lady G boat:

The boat was officially stripped prior to going into Nanny Cay drydock for storage.
There was nothing really stored aboard, and the benches and cushions had been removed and placed on LSJ.
The GPS which is still on board was installed when Carlos first came on board, and is not worth much.
Aside from some LSJ tools, and Carlos' toolbox, which if he has a day off this weekend, will travel to the BVI to retrieve, there is nothing left to remove.

Please advise, DW
