OK. Thanks and we will be hopeful about tomorrow. Kicking in is right. Scared would be a good word. I just text with him so I don't bother him too much. Terry

Thanks for the heads up. I actually did speak with him; Sat eve for over 20 min. He sounded down and you are correct, he is anxious about the medicine today and the scan results. He is also very tired, I warned evrryone about that when I was there; its now kicking in and emotionally draining. I intend to call him later today and again tomorrow.

Seems WE is having a rough few days. Sleeping and not eating too much. I guess its anxiety, concern and depression about tomorrow and situation in general. Maybe you can give him a call. TK
