To: Lawrence H. Summers [redacted]
From: jeffrey E.
Sent: Wed 7/30/2014 9:18:25 AM

Economic advice provided by IPI and its advisors will focus on the following areas:

i. Establishing and maintaining a suitable exchange rate regime in the face of likely financial instability and exchange rate fluctuation in Russia.

ii. Efficiently deploying rapidly growing reserves to maximize financial and political advantages. This poses a particularly challenging problem in a world where returns on industrial country bonds are low and likely to remain low for a protracted period.

iii. Maintaining a multi-vector approach to international economic policy in a world where Russian truculence is increasing, America may be turning inwards, and China is becoming increasingly assertive.

iv. Assuring full participation in all aspects of the global economic system while maintaining involvement in the Eurasian Union.

v. Remaining attractive as a target for foreign investment in the face of regional political instability.

something like this?

--
please note
The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of JEE
Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited