I visited aobiome today. You would LOVE the mad scientist researcher who put this together. He is one of THE most brilliant people and he has an interesting and slightly different way of understanding the microbiome and especially, the role of NO (nitric oxide). He blew me away. The marketing will be the biggest challenge. The product is getting rave reviews and subscriptions from users (who seem to love it). They need to be careful not to make claims that will upset the FDA. The NO is the amazing power here, but that may be too complicated for consumers. The "probiotic" or healthy live bacteria for skin may play better. Not sure.... The team is terrific.

I hope you talk with Jamie. Brilliant guy. This is a really smart, hard driving group of very talented people with an exciting product. I can't wait to try it!

Jeffrey,

Happy to set up a time to talk one on one. Let me know if you want to hear the formal presentation Monday as well. I am on vacation for the next 10 days so I am pretty flexible.

Jeffrey,

The group presentation is Monday at 3:00 - I have added you to the invite. Also happy to connect one on one. I am driving the family to NC thursday and can chat from the road.

Jeffrey,
Good to meet you. A friend of Linda is a friend of mine.
We are just finishing out an angel round of 4M and I am happy to fill you in. There is likely to be a presentation monday as well so some of our existing investors on this round.

If you want a little background you can find more at the website <https://www.aobiome.com/company>

If you also want to see what got Linda inspired, Larry Weiss (Now our Chief Medical Officer) gave this talk about 7 months ago as part of a casual ignite presentation.

Jeffrey -

Jamie is brilliant and has a spectacular team at aobiome. They're having great success. Not much room for investment, but Jamie will consider creating an opportunity for you.

Investor call Monday. He will talk with you one on one. I've separately sent you the recent NYT article.

Best,
