I am not so great at dealing with the animals. Never have been. I always get by (i.e. get paid millions), but I always leave a lot of value on the table. It has happened 4 times out of 4.

At this point the "how" of building this system is laid out. There are many smart people with the right motivation that could do it. (I could imagine I am the only one, that I have some special engineering abilities, but that's not true). I have already bid this out to many vendors in the space industry and every one of them has come back with variations of solutions.

To be clear, I would sell it and move on – it is the only chunk of spectrum to make this happen.

I had ambitions to build this massive company, but that was under the right circumstances. However, my general preference now is to sell. Happy to give you more details if you want.

you have some good ideas. I would like to think about how best to help. you have swung from wanting no alternative but , to build this giant co to- let me just get money for the spectrun and be gone. not sure what has happened. I frankly never thought about your new suggestion, intriguing. I buy world view. (you pay little tax) and then I deal with the animals
