spent 30 minutes with chris, . roger. you know i have both great affection and respect for you. i hope annie enjoyed the morning, to be told that i can't begin until i go out and buy the standard textbook read the first two chapters and if i have questions doing the excercises i should contact chris . was soooooooooo ridiculous , only to be outdone by having to watch silly videos that no kid in history would sit through. not exciting , not interactive, I am shocked. sorry, I will try however to continue but I can't believe this is what you have been talking about. the web pages are badly designed, , ugly, not intuitve, tabs up on top, along the side, having to switch to go back to resources, . terms defined right out of other bad text books. . i asked chris to explain to me the difference between doing this and going to a class and he said there are no grades i will only tell you if you did well on the project wilthout a grade. and guide you to do better if you did not do well.??
