no good deed

Hi Jeffrey -

I've just read through the contract Darren sent, and while I appreciate your interest on this, the responsibilities listed are not a match for me.

My strengths and interests lie in the research, collecting interesting people, programing and facilitating/working with the participants to facilitate the time together. For this work (with no logistics, etc), I've charged clients $75-125K per advisory board or symposium, and that's the low end of what people charge for this sort of thing.

Please let me know if any of that type of work is of interest to you.

There are a handful of other projects I'm involved in and excited about, from periodic consulting, to research, writing, and speaking, to being a Fellow with a local Consulting/ThinkTank group, to being a visiting scholar at UChicago a little later this year.

Thanks again for your thoughtfulness!
