

To: Jeffrey Epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]; ann rodriguez[REDACTED]; Mark Tollison[REDACTED]
From: Daphne Wallace
Sent: Tue 11/26/2013 2:08:39 PM
Subject: Lull's fuel injection pump - November 26, 2013

Greetings Mr. Epstein,
I have asked Diesel Testers is to contact the factory the part was shipped from for the correct USPS tracking number.

Yesterday, I was emailed a tracking number, I recognized that it was a UPS tracking number, but thought they had figured out a faster way to ship to us. It was incorrect and not our number. Boscoe called Diesel Testers immediately, they had no other tracking number, but confirmed that the part was drop shipped directly from the factory on Friday afternoon November 22, and should be delivered to us by this afternoon.

The factory in Texas opens at 9 am, the vendor will call and call me.

We also contacted our mail handler on STT, he is checking to see if he has any Express Mail packages for delivery for us today.

Respectfully,

Daphne