Jeffrey,
I was having trouble locating a flight engineer that would work over Xmas holiday,. Chris my regular part time guy was hesitant to commit, since he has four kids and his brother just had cancer surgery,. When I called my other candidate, Tim Powell normally requests $1,200 per day, he was not available, he is retired Delta. Chris knows our AUX fuel and aircraft very well,. I offered him $1000 per day, after he turned me down $750 per day,. In the past we paid him $500 per day for his services, which has been a good deal for us. Due to my FAR125 certificate, I can't just take anyone off the street, they have to be trained in accordance with my manual, and be named in my General Operations Manual.

Chris said he would be able to cancel his plans with his family, do you approve of $1000 per day for this trip only for Chris?

is this OK?

thank you,
Larry
