Morning sneaky dog ! How are you ?

Sorry I just woke up . Haven't slept well those nights ... Have been staying up very late filling out last two online applications for NYU and New School . The final part now is just to write a personal statement and two additional school's questions (essay version) . I finished writing them last night and edited and now just have to send . I would like to know your opinion before I send it if you have time to read it. And call me :)
