What I need to do is contact bill and Jermaine And if your Mac is working then we can resolve with what works best for you long term
My ? Is does your laptop connect and work or is that still down ?

I believe that this is still the scott and bill Murphy debate I think that your basic Internet needs should be removed from expensive recurring costs and there should be no part of the network that you are unclear on in any way that's what always bothered me .. I think that when you told me keep things simple I agree 10 fold Not sure if the hvac systems are the hang ups are the inter-connection between locations that have been mapped by bill and jermaine are always needed It's just my perspective because in general thing just work Sorry if thins is off point but so many moving part I am trying my best Let me know when there is a go time for us to clarify your concerns but I thought brice had it resolved at least for your basic Internet use

For which location I am glad you reached out I have been working with Brice to fix that for hours and was glad he was making it work

..... New York may need a new router but I felt it was working please advise ... We can talk later if needed but I helped Brice fix your current location The Cisco question is a deeper matter Want to be as clear with you as I can standing by.... but at new client location for a 2 hour period what ever needs to be done to help you ... You know I will always try my best thank you
