I found a solution. very clever jeffrey, you will enter a contract with Bill that he agrees that you can buy shares of common in the future from dec 31 2013 to dec 31 2015 for a fized dollars today. he through bgv only owns preferred, it is convertible but no restrictions exist for common . you can then excercise your right when you want to. its capital gain. BG V is an LLC and i would like to know the owners. but it is immaterial to my suggested transaction. this also would not require a cascade involvment
