I've given yesterday real thought. I love the idea about Iraq. I would have to summarize the overall gestalt however. As- lonely at the top. 47th floor presidents kings prime ministers, you. - your search for a new platform, is like rebuilding the pyramids you have already built. , but building is your business. i get it. If i can be an outlet for fun , or adventure, let me know. I was reminded of my meetings on the origin of life that i held on my island. One scientist said he had searched over 50 markers , and combinations over his ten year life as head of his field. the next presenter , 22 years old, said he thought that interesting but he had used his computer algorithm , just designed to search for over a million markers that morning. fyi I had never met penny or gigi before. .
