FYI

you need two men to check system, one to manually control zones the other to fault find, both help out with repairs if we went to 2 x a month, the question is then who would be responsible for checking system when Scott does not come on site
It would probably come down to Danny or myself, lets review early next year, right now we have enough on our schedules

I would like to either have him cut back to 2x per month with 2 men or weekly with 1 man

Let's discuss
Thank you
