Hello Mr. Epstein, I wanted to touch base with you in regards to some research I've been doing. Found out that the JVC 4K is around $148,000 and is available. The Sony Available but and around $180,000 when you put together all the parts. I have not been able to get any info yet on the Barco but is not Available till next year I would assume it will be close to the Sony price.

After doing some research my biggest concern going this route is these projectors were designed for large commercial venues.

A concern of mine is the actual picture colors and black levels won't compare to what we just saw since it is designed for much larger venues

I talked to the main guy in the commercial department at Sony and he told me that they were not designed with the residential home user in mind yet and will be a long while before it makes it to the consumer level

I know you want to move quickly so I'm trying to stay on top of things for you.
