great proposal,, however, it needs to be more around deception alic -bob. communication. virus hacking, battle between defense and infiltration.. computation is already looked at in various fields. camouflage , mimicry, signal processing, and its non random nature, misinformation. ( the anti- truth - but right answer for the moment ).. computation does not involve defending against interception, a key area for biological systems, if a predator breaks the code, it usually can accumulate its preys free energy at a discount . self deception, ( necessary to prevent accidental disclosure of innate algorithms. WE need more hackers , also interested in biological hacking , security, etc.
