Good Afternoon,

*My Mum has finally arrived 2 days late after plane problems at Heathrow and then having to complete an overnight in Miami. I know that this is asking a great deal, but would it be possible if she stayed on the island for a couple of nights, she really is just wiped out and I am concerned about leaving her at the Hotel by herself until she is fully rested and more stable on her feet, if this is a problem I would need to take a few days off to be with her. She is in really good shape for 75 but 3 days of travelling was not really the plan, all she really needs is some down time Again I apologize for the inconvenience
Warmest regards
