Well [REDACTED] was super depressed and miserable.

But I took your advice and just acted like it was nothing. He's rapid cycling mood wise so I seized the opportunity. Packed his stuff and dragged him.

We went to bikram this morning. Then his favorite Jerry's Famous Deli for lunch. Then shopping which culminated at Maxfield (have you been?). We got him a cool people outfit which looks remarkably like all of his other outfits.

Back at Ritz, which is adjacent to movie premiere place. He seems excited.

He's been talking a lot about how similar software releases are to movie releases. He's enjoying the creative process a lot.

He actually came up w a genius idea after hanging w woody. He's gonna do it on the side, will tell you about when we talk.

Anyway I wonder if this industry would be a good next home for him in some capacity.
