We're not finding them at our vendors in Puerto Rico (they're utilizing them for their fields) but did find them in South Florida in 3 gallon pots for $7.95 each. I'm pretty sure we could get them down a little on that price- or collect them here or on St. Thomas.

Certainly- that's what they're here for- I'll just keep planting more. Just let me know how many you need.

The large Bougainvillea were to come from Florida and finished out at our nursery (unloaded, sprayed, fertilized to push new growth and blooms since they defoliate in shipping). The 45 gallon Bougainvillea stumps I quoted of $ 682.50 ($975 - 30%) should meet or be close to that spec.

Thanks, I appreciate it. However, I'm in the palm field now and ours won't meet the same height of clear wood as what you're getting now (15'). Ours are only 10-12' of clear wood, and I've got a total of 112 available. I also have 476 that are 6-8' of clear wood.

Perhaps Chris can hand tag your trees in Puerto Rico for quality purposes and negotiate a better price for you as well?
