I think I should get something in my plate to occupy time and to keep me in the game.

Disney board--like mcdonalds for you this was always the one I wanted to do. Do you think JE could help?

Facebook board--I do think I add something here. He gets lots of advice and help but it seems worth trying. He talks to Steve a lot but they don't trust each other. He talks to bill a little. I could just send him mail as we met a couple of times. This would satisfy a need to do something visible.

Apple or google--the more I think and factor in your views if WBI the more I think I should pursue these. More for JE?

HBS is in progress. However much I want this spring. I know I will write a case.

G projects--not sure where these are going. If I don't need to go to SF I will go down to la wed I think.

Startup--hard to do this if I don't know where to base it. Will think about this in la.

Book--will take a shot at just filling time by writing sort of a first person account.

Telling my story--there will be some stories this week. Need to decide if we tell the CEO story or not.

Resignation money--I suspect Steve is dragging this out.
